Features of the University

Kyushu University is one of the oldest and most prestigious national universities in Japan. The history of the university dates back to 1902, when Fukuoka Medical College was founded. The university offers undergraduate and graduate level education across a full range of academic disciplines. There are currently around 19,000 students enrolled and 2,000 faculty members.

Kyushu University is particularly well known for the large number of international education programmes that are offered, and for the resulting diverse student body. In 2009, the university was selected by the Japanese Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology to participate in the "Global 30" project to further promote internationalization of higher education in Japan. At present, there are around 2,000 international students enrolled at Kyushu University from around seventy different countries.

Kyushu University is located in Itoshima, close to the city of Fukuoka. Fukuoka is the largest city in Kyushu, the most southern of Japan's four main islands. Fukuoka is regularly featured in various international rankings of the "world's most livable cities."

Features of the Graduate School

The Faculty of Law was established in September 1924 as the Department of the Faculty of Law and Letters, and acquired independent status in 1949.

Annually, 200 students are admitted to the faculty as undergraduates. As of April 2017, over 14,500 students have completed the undergraduate programme. Occupational activities of these alumni are diverse, covering the legal profession, government service (both national and local), business, journalism, education, and academia. The graduate programme of the faculty, which was set up in 1953, has produced over 1,500 Master's degrees and 110 Doctoral degrees.

In 1994, the Faculty of Law launched Japan's first Master's programme taught entirely in English; the LL.M. in International Economic and Business Law (IEBL). In 1999, a similar programme was established focusing on comparative politics and political administration (CSPA). In 2001, the faculty launched a special government funded programme for young legal professionals of designated Asian countries (YLP). The LL.M., YLP and CSPA programmes have been accepting JDS Fellows since the inception of the programme.

The faculty now has the experience of educating students from more than 50 different countries, and over 500 students have graduated from the various international programmes. As a result, the university has accumulated a great deal of experience in receiving foreign students and providing reliable support systems in education, research and living in Japan.

Features of the Programme

The IEBL programme focuses on international economic and business law from a comparative perspective, emphasizing (i) domestic laws related to this issue, especially civil law, competition law, foreign investment law, civil litigation, intellectual property law, commercial law, and conflict of laws, and (ii) the emerging fields of international commercial and trade law.

The programme is intended to provide JDS Fellows with a variety of intellectual and practical skills required to confront the many challenges of international economic affairs and commercial transactions in a rapidly globalizing world.

Curriculum

All JDS fellows are expected to complete a 20-credit coursework curriculum and write a master's thesis of 70 pages (10 credits).

The JDS Programme uses a Quarter System. Each semester (Fall and Spring) is divided into two quarters. Students will normally have two classes of each subject per week over the course of the quarter for regular classes. In addition, intensive classes are organized during the semesters. Most classes award 2 credits.

Students must gain a minimum of 20 credits from courses offered within the framework of the JDS Programme. 4 credits are received from taking a special course for JDS students - the JDS Forum - taught over two years. The 16 remaining credits from courses must be distributed as follows over the four semesters of study:

Semester I (Fall Year I) [4 credits in Quarter 1, and 2 credits in Quarter 2 plus the Research Methodology & Thesis Writing class]: Students must take Legal Research Methodology & Thesis Writing, and three other quarter-length courses offered within the framework of the JDS Programme.

Semester II (Spring Year I) [2 credits in Quarter 3, and 2 credits in Quarter 4]: Students must take two courses offered within the framework of the JDS Programme.

Semester III (Fall Year II) [2 credits in Quarter 1, and 2 credits in Quarter 2]: Students must take two courses offered within the framework of the JDS Programme.

Semester IV: (Spring Year II) [2 credits in Quarter 3]: Students must take one course offered within the framework of the JDS Programme.
